

A guide by Rhode Islanders, for Rhode Islanders

CACRI, the Civic Alliance for a Cooler Rhode Island, welcomes you to the Livable RI guide!

We are a group of Rhode Island citizen volunteers who are concerned about the coming impacts of climate change on our state's people, places, and things we love.

Please start by reading our introductory articles on why we've written this manual. Then help us by sharing this guide with your friends, family, and social groups to spread the word. By working together, we will build better relationships with each other and with our environment, making Rhode Island more livable for all of us.
